A year in numbers

My work	Year	Pr Week	(number are rounded)
Gerrit reviews	2.600	50	Assign reviewer, check patch Many patches multiple times
Commits	490	8	Major part from contributors
Easyhack		10	All changes are controlled
Welcome mail	150	3	Send mail, update wiki
„We miss you“	200	4	>3 month without activity
Help etc.	1.100	20	Generic mail to new people
Git commits:		200	100%
Contributor		40	20%	Important part
Committer		160	80%

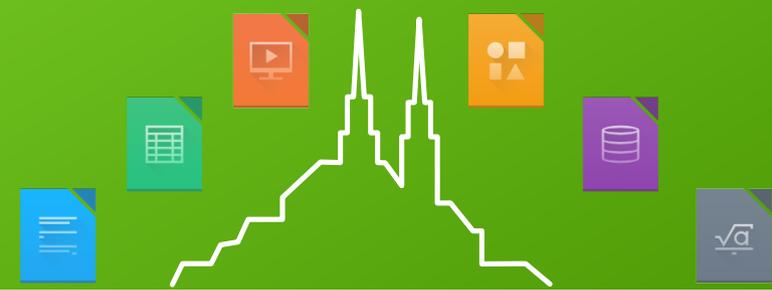

Does it have an impact?

Measure	9/2015	8/2016	2017
Mail non-active developers pr week	0	4	3
Welcome email (license) pr week	1-2	3	3-4
Merge delay, committer is 2 in days	6-10	5	3-4
Contributor merge in %	18%	20%	20%

University projects (GSoC etc) in #	1	1	2-3
Feedback on patches pr week	0-1	1-2	3-4

Keeping developers active

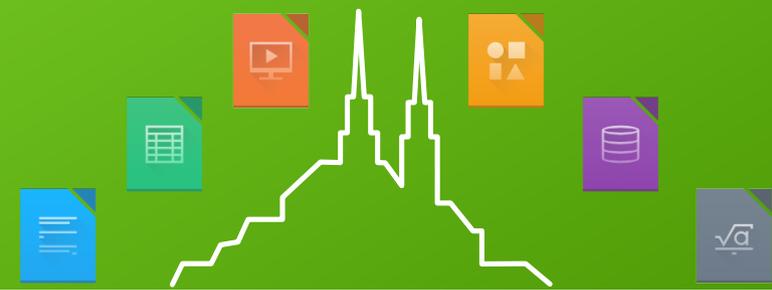

Mailing 4 pr week is too much

- Catch inactivity earlier:
 - Contact after 1 month not 3 !
 - Give concrete suggestions on work matching their wishes
- ✓ Contribute more than 3-4 patches
 - Direct feedback on first patches
 - See later
- Faster reviews
 - Abandoning 1-2 patches every month due to lack of review
 - Review time distribution far too large (1day – 2month)
 - Idea: Top5 reviewer list in ESC minutes

Hackfest and new people

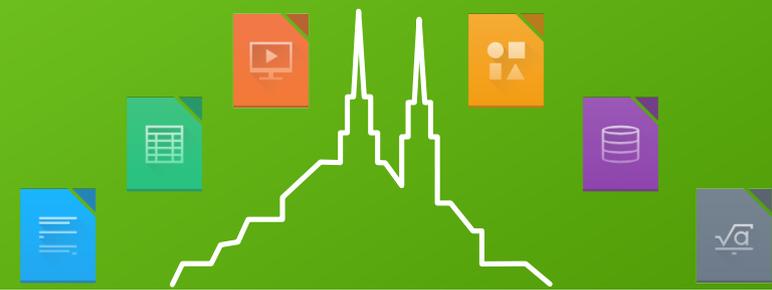

2-3 new people versus 5-6 old people

- › Use local university to do marketing
 - › Use university billboards
 - › Contact student group
 - › Contact Information Faculty
- › Make more “formal” group fotos and blog
 - › E.g. twitter “we thank <foo> for participating”
- › Get the word out:
 - › Use spaces like <http://www.the-hackfest.com>
 - › Google search states hackfest != LibreOffice
- › “Certificate” to show friends, and use in own blog
 - › Follow up with private emails and tweets

More commits from new people

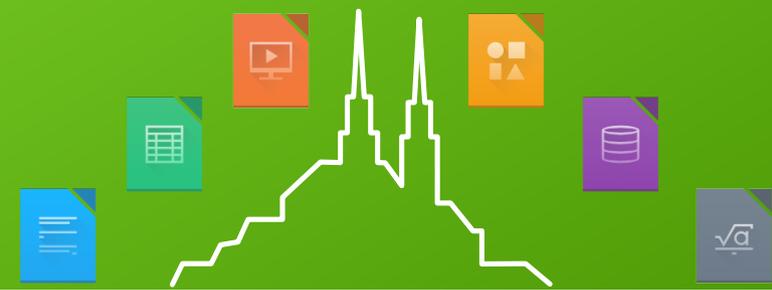

Difficult balance, we want committers

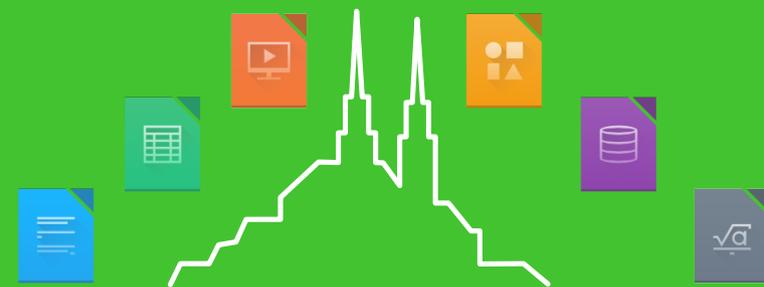

- ✓ Impossible to achieve
 - ✓ Many commits == Committer
- ✓ Some contribute only 1-2 simple patches and leave
- ✓ Some contribute 3-4 patches or more and leave
 - ✓ Need fast success (review) to see it is worth while
 - ✓ Direct feedback on first patches
 - ✓ Need mentoring
 - ✓ “thanks for the patch, have a look at <foo> next”
 - ✓ Guides on how to use e.g. opengrok (youtube?)
 - ✓ When asked majority replied:
 - ✓ Good community, very welcoming
 - ✓ Code is far to difficult to understand

Something for something

Why choose our project?

- Of course LibreOffice is the best project and community !
 - Busy students have many choices, we need leverage
 - LibreOffice is well known and a plus in your career
 - Participation is a public secret
 - One solution:
 - Mail “thank you” after 1st patch, with “reward” scheme
 - Official pdf certificate after 10th patch signed for your CV
 - Official pdf certificate after hackfest, signed for your CV
- DISCLAIMER, need to be discussed by Bod (signature).

Thank you ... for listening!

- ▶ Please help me make this happen !!
- ▶ We are an active community
 - ▶ But we can do better :-)
